Volunteering at the Château Ramezay

Montréal, January 9, 2014 – Did you know that nearly 100 volunteers work at the Château Ramezay ? They give tours of the museum wearing their period costumes and convey to visitors their enthusiasm for history. During the recruitment campaign for new volunteer guides, there will be an open house at the Château Ramezay on Monday, January 20, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

It's an opportunity to visit the museum and enjoy the company of experienced guides while learning about the volunteer programs available. Being a volunteer guide at the Château Ramezay is an opportunity to teach others about history and be part of a dynamic group of enthusiastic people. The Ramezay Guides Associations regularly organizes social activities for its members, as well as dinners and visits to other cultural institutions. Training for prospective guides is provided by experienced guides, who enthusiastically share their knowledge.

Each year, the Château Ramezay welcomes thousands of visitors of all kinds. There are students (from elementary to university level), many groups of newcomers improving their language skills, and an increasing number of Québec and foreign tourists who want to learn more about the history of Montréal and Québec.

If you are looking for an interesting and rewarding way to spend your free time, at the Château Ramezay you'll have an opportunity to do volunteer work, tailored to enthusiastic personalities.

The Château Ramezay – Historic Site and Museum of Montréal, a non-profit organization, safeguards and makes accessible a collection that reflects and attests to the history of Montréal and Quebec. It was the first building in Quebec to be classified an historic monument and is the province's oldest private historical museum. Visit our website: www.chateauramezay.qc.ca
