

HELP WANTED: ENTHUSIASTIC VOLUNTEERS!

Montreal, September 3, 2024—Want to get involved? The Château Ramezay—Museum and historical site of Montreal is on a recruitment drive! We are looking for volunteer guides willing to share their love of history with students and the general public who'd like to know more about our heritage.

Anyone interested is invited to the Chateau Ramezay on Monday, September 23 between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. at our open house of recruitment. Our volunteer guides will be on hand to share their enthusiasm with you and answer all questions.

Required Profile

You don't need to be a historian or even bilingual, as long as you're comfortable with others, love learning and sharing your knowledge with a diverse clientele, a few hours per week. If, in addition, you're interested in the history of Quebec and/or of Montreal, you'd be an ideal candidate! Complete training is available. Teamed with an experienced guide, you'll learn the ropes of our programs and master the pleasures of guiding, at your own pace.

A Risky Business?!

Yes indeed! By becoming a volunteer at the Chateau, you risk making new friends! The volunteer guides are divided into two associations, the English-speaking guides and the French-speaking ones, nearly 100 members in all. Each group organizes continuing training, outings, and various events over the year. Some volunteers have been with the Chateau for over 25 years!

Questions?

Come to the Chateau on Monday, September 23 to meet the members of our dynamic team! They are the best source of information on our volunteer programs. Information is also available on our website under the heading Donations and Volunteering.
